DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: all reference numerals referred to in the specification are not present in the figures. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Double Patenting

Claims 1-18 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-22 of U.S. Patent No. 6,331,191 B1 to Chobotov (cited in IDS). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because once an applicant has received a patent for a species or a more specific embodiment, he is not entitled to a patent for the generic or broader invention. The application claims are merely broader than the patented claims. The patented claims "anticipate" the application claims. In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-5, 7-15, 17, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fogarty et al. (US 6,123,722). Referring to the product claims 1-5, 7, 8, 14-18, Fogarty discloses an endovascular graft or kit (60, 90) comprising a plurality of separate thin walled graft members (62, 64, 66; 92, 94) configured to be layered (Fogarty's graft are capable of being layered; see figs.3-5). Fogarty discloses two or three graft members, together being able to support a body lumen (col.3, lines 56-65). Fogarty discloses one of the graft members (64 for example in fig.3 or 94 in fig.4, configured to be placed on the inner most location) having the greatest length. Fogarty discloses the graft members to be capable of being delivered individually (fig.5; col.6, lines 55-68). Fogarty discloses anchoring mechanisms (barbs 83 or flare seen in fig.6c) on the ends of the graft members.

Referring to claims 9-13, Fogarty discloses a method of deploying a graft comprising providing at least two thin graft members, delivering one through a catheter (30) and deploying the one, then delivering a second thin graft through a catheter (30) and deploying the second within a lumen of the first (fig.5a-5c; col.6 line 55-col.7 line 5). Fogarty has shown the inner graft (66 in fig.3) to extend longitudinally from an end of the outer graft (62; see fig.3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fogarty et al. (US 6,123,722). Fogarty discloses a layered endovascular graft (60, 90; fig.3-5; see above) having expansion capabilities on a catheter substantially as claimed. Fogarty does not disclose however, the exact dimensions of the catheter diameter nor the compressed graft diameters. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the dimension claimed since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA).

Conclusion

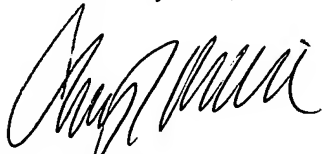

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
